Dear Friends,

Through these Lenten readings, we continue on our Journey with Jesus on this, the 5th Sunday of Lent. These closing verses of Chapter 12 of the Gospel of John mark the end of the so-called Book of Signs, the twelve chapters in the first part of his Gospel in which Jesus performs signs which point to Who He is—the Son of God. In today's excerpted text, the arrival of some Greeks is the fulfillment of the prophecy unknowingly uttered by the Pharisees (in verse 19) that the whole world is "going after him." But their arrival gives Jesus the occasion once again to remind his disciples of his now imminent suffering and death for the life of the world. At Cana, He had told His mother that his hour had not yet come; now he announces His hour has at last come.

For Jesus, death is the defining reality of living. It is the ultimate truth about the "world." It motivates our actions far more than we realize. Fear of death underlies every other fear, every kind of clinging, every selfishness. Fear of death leads us to cling to everything we can get our hands on, to seek the immortality of power, fame, fortune or even relationships. Such grasping is what Jesus calls—loving the life of this world. If you choose to live your mortal life in this way, you will lose it. If you love the world in this way, it will gain you nothing. This is why Jesus urges His disciples (and us, as well) to hate the life of the world, to abandon this doomed desire for self-preservation. He promises to lead them in a better way, "I am the way and the truth and the life." The purpose of Jesus' life is to show the way beyond this world, to the glory of the Father.

But Jesus makes no pretense that this is easy. It brings Him grief and anguish. Fully human, Jesus cannot but abhor the prospect of His own violent death. In addition, He mourns the plight of those who have committed themselves to love of the world, choosing to cling to what He knows will lead nowhere. But He knows the path He must follow and the path His disciples must follow as well. Only those who hate their own instinct for self-preservation, those who are willing to face down the enticements and manipulations of instinctual self-defense can be open to what God offers.

As we begin to prepare for Holy Week, reflect on the priorities of your life, not just your sins. Do your priorities witness to "the world" and its path of self-preservation or to "Jesus," and His path to eternal life.

Next Sunday is Palm Sunday, the beginning of Holy Week. It is during Holy Week that we celebrate the most sacred days in our faith-life. You and I know we have generally returned to the fast-paced lives we were leading before the pandemic. Juggling once again work, school, the kids' extracurricular activities, cultural and social commitments gives us very little time to breathe and to look at ourselves and the person we are or have become. The Sacrament of Reconciliation gives us that moment to stop, examine and change in our lives what might need changing. The parish will offer three opportunities to do that. The first is the regularly scheduled Saturday confessions, next Saturday from 1:00-2:00PM, with four priests hearing. If you're planning a family vacation during Holy Week, perhaps this is the option for you, getting to confession as a family before you leave. The second is the parish Penance Service, with opportunity for individual confessions, one week from Tuesday, on March 26th, beginning at 7:30PM. For those who may have been away from the sacrament for a long time, this affords a good opportunity for an examination of conscience which you may have forgotten over the years. The third and last opportunity for confession before Easter will be a week from Wednesday, March 27th, from 7:00-9:00PM, with four priests hearing. Make this a different Easter and by celebrating this sacrament allow Jesus to heal you and renew you in His grace.

God Bless,
Fr. Ron

PS. Because of the parish Penance Service on Tuesday the 26th and confessions on Wednesday the 27th, there will be no confessions on Monday evening, March 25th. As in the past, Perpetual Eucharistic Adoration will end on Palm Sunday evening at 8:00PM, after the 6:30 Mass, and will resume on Easter Monday, April 1 at 7:00AM.

PPS. The 25 Catholic Charities raffle tickets I made available last week have all been taken. If anyone else is interested in supporting Catholic Charities through this annual raffle, please let me know by the end of this week. I can request additional tickets.

STEWARDSHIP

"Whoever serves me must follow me, and where I am, there also will my servant be. The Father will honor whoever serves me." Jesus' words in today's Gospel remind us that, as servants, our lives must mirror the life of the One whom we serve. How? By offering ourselves as He did. He offered His life, we offer what we can. The Christian Steward offers his/her gifts of Time, Talent and Treasure, small in comparison to One's life. But we do it for the same reason He did, to build the Kingdom of the Father.

The parish Stewardship of Treasure last week was $15,235. Thank you to all who continue to so generously support the work of the Gospel. Using online giving, WeShare, really does help the parish better announce the Gospel and spread the Good News. Why not try it for the spring and see if it works for you too.

Perpetual Eucharistic Adoration (PEA) is quiet adoration of the Blessed Sacrament—24 hours/day, 7 days/week—for almost 22 years now at Our Lady of Mount Carmel Church. We have at least 168 Scheduled Adorers to cover this time, along with substitutes and many visitors each hour in quiet reflective prayer. It is very important that Jesus is not left alone in the Chapel. Jesus in the Holy Eucharist is the source and summit of our Christian life. This continuous prayer by all Adorers brings about abundant blessings to the faithful, to their loved ones, to the Church and to the community. Prayer power invokes the love, mercy and divine providence of God!

1. Jeremiah 31:31-34

For most of his prophetic ministry, Jeremiah was an object of scorn. This prophet of the closing years of the kingdom witnessed the disloyalty of the people and prophesied the destruction of the kingdom. At the same time, he offers his contemporaries the hope of eventual restoration. While the old covenant, which marked the beginning of a special bond between God and His people, was inscribed in stone, the new covenant will be inscribed directly on the hearts of the people. How? By God's own initiative, who will extend His forgiveness, a forgiveness which will motivate His people to absolute loyalty to His saving word.

2. Hebrews 5:7-9

According to ancient rabbis, there were three kinds of prayer, (1) prayer, (2) crying out; and (3) tears, each one loftier than the preceding one. The author of Hebrews tells us that Jesus prayed with "loud cries and tears." Jesus' tears were the loftiest from of prayer, holy, honest venting before God. And this prayer was heard because of "His reverence." This being so, even with the tears and the reverence, Jesus nevertheless went on to suffer. The obedience of Jesus, with which He accepted the suffering, was a listening to God with respectful surrender and the perfection thus achieved is the accomplishment of His mission—a mission given by the Father.

3. John 12:20-33

The arrival of gentiles seeking Jesus serves as the moment for Jesus' announcement that His hour, referred to in previous passages as not yet come, has now arrived. And it is this eschatological moment pointing to Jesus' death that will allow the gentiles into the saving revelation first offered to Abraham. Jesus then goes on to explain the urgency of the hour and the meaning of His death. His death, like the grain of wheat, will produce fruit, the fruit being union between the believing community and the Father in love, a love which must imitate His love which embraces the cross and leads to exaltation.

REFLECTIONS FOR THE WEEK

1. What do you think it means, "to love my life too much to lose it?"
2. When was the last time you chose a path that you knew would come at a personal cost? What was it?
3. Christ "learned obedience through suffering." What does that mean to "learn obedience through suffering"? In what ways do you learn the same? What "obedience" have you learned?
